IS YOUR SKATER READY FOR PRIVATE SKATING LESSONS?

Below you will find information to help you answer this frequently asked question.

What are private skating lessons?

Private lessons are one-on-one skating instruction with a professional skating coach. Lessons are given during free-style sessions (FS) and are available in 15 minute increments. FS Sessions are used for individual practice and are 45 minutes in length.

When is my skater ready for private lessons?

Skaters are ready for private lessons when they feel they want more practice or individualized instruction than is available in a group lesson setting. Private lessons can be scheduled on a weekly basis or a 'booster' lesson can be taken occasionally to help a skater with difficult skills they've learned in group lessons.

How do I choose a coach?

The Skating Director coordinates private lessons with our professional staff. To request a private lesson, submit the "Skater Information Form" (on last page) to the Skate Shop. We will contact you within 1 week with a suggested coach that compliments your skater as well as your schedule.

How much does this cost?

Freestyle sessions range from $7-$7.50 and coaching fees range from $6-$17 per 15 minutes. Skate rental, if needed, is included in the cost of the freestyle session. It is recommended that a new private lesson skater initially take a 30 minute private lesson to become familiar with skating on a freestyle Session.

How will this help my skater?

Group lessons provide skaters a foundation of basic skating skills. Some of these skills are more difficult than others and every child has a different learning style that impacts their group lesson progress. Private or booster lessons are a great way for a skater to get additional practice to help them master their skating skills. All skaters should begin in McDonald's KidsSkate program and it is recommended that the skater participate in both group and private lessons until at least the ISI Freestyle 1 (Low FS) level.

Freestyle Sessions

Freestyles are offered Monday through Thursday at 5pm and 5:45pm (45 minute sessions). Freestyle calendars are available on a monthly basis at the Skate Shop or online at www.ice.muohio.edu.

High Freestyles are for skaters at the ISI Freestyle 3 level and above.

Low Freestyles are for all skaters at the ISI Freestyle 2 level and below.

General Freestyles are open to all level skaters.

The cost for one session is:

$7—MU Faculty/Staff

$7.50—Regular price

Coaching Costs?

All lessons are based on 15 minute increments.

- $6-$6.50—Collegiate Staff Coaches
- $7-$17—Professional Staff Coaches
